

FALTAUNO

BARRANQUILLA · COLOMBIA

COMMERCIAL PITCH

Never miss a match for lack of one player.

The platform that connects players who need a team with teams that need players — and lets anyone create a match from scratch on Barranquilla's synthetic pitches.

TEAM

Camilo Meza · Jayzir Martínez · Guillermo de León Rojano
Julián Vanegas · Joel Hernández

CONFIDENTIAL DOCUMENT

01 / 09

The Hook

“I had the pitch booked. I had the drive.
I had no one to play with.”

THE MOMENT FALTAUNO WAS BORN

Football is the most popular sport on Earth — and the easiest one to not play. You can't play it alone. Whether it's a casual 6-a-side with friends, 7-a-side, or a full-pitch match, it demands that an entire group coincide at the same place, at the same time. One missing name in your phone, and the game dies before it starts.

02 / 09

The Problem

This idea wasn't born in a spreadsheet. It was born one afternoon in Barranquilla, wanting to play and having no one to call. That moment — scrolling your contacts for a name that isn't there — isn't a personal anecdote. It's an invisible market, split into two kinds of loneliness that never meet:

THE DEMAND

Players without a team

The guy who just moved to the city. The one who drifted apart from his school friends. The one who's free today — but his friends aren't. People with the drive, and no squad.

Players with drive, no team.

THE SUPPLY

Teams without players

The WhatsApp group where someone writes “can't make it” at 6 p.m. The squad that booked a synthetic pitch for 8 and shows up with nine. Two no-shows drag down everyone else.

Teams with a pitch, no players.

The absurd part is the distance between them: they're less than a kilometer apart and they've never met. The pitch sits paid and empty. The player stays home. The team dissolves. Everyone loses the same thing: a match that already existed — nobody could assemble it.

DIAGNOSIS

Barranquilla doesn't lack players.
It lacks coordination.

03 / 09

The Solution

FaltaUno is a web platform that turns the whole city into one available squad. It works in two directions: it rescues matches that would collapse for lack of players, and it lets anyone create a match from scratch — book your synthetic pitch, publish the game, and watch the city fill it.

1

Create or publish a match

No team? Create a match from zero — venue, time, format and player slots — and you become its admin. Team missing two? Publish the gap in thirty seconds. Either way, the match now exists.

2

Find and join

Free this afternoon? Browse open matches near you, filtered by neighborhood, format and skill level, with real seat counts. Join with one tap — capacity control guarantees your spot is real.

3

Coordinate and play

Every match has its own group chat. Strangers agree on jersey colors, split the pitch fee, and show up. The booking isn't wasted, the match doesn't fall — a full game happens.

04 / 09

Target Users

FaltaUno is built for amateur football players in Barranquilla — the everyday players of the city's synthetic-pitch culture:

THE NEWCOMER

New in town

Moved for work or study, loves football, knows nobody. Wants to play the first week, not the first year.

THE FREE AGENT

Squad-less regular

His friends are busy, married, or moved away. Still wants his weekly game without depending on one fixed group.

THE ORGANIZER

Team captain

Books the pitch, chases confirmations, suffers the 6 p.m. cancellations. Needs replacements in minutes, not hours.

A second audience benefits indirectly: synthetic-pitch owners, whose bookings stop being cancelled when incomplete teams can be refilled.

05 / 09

Key Features → Benefits

FEATURE

BENEFIT

Match creation with admin role

Any user creates a match from zero and manages it: venue, format, price, level.

› You don't wait for someone to organize. You organize — and the city joins you.

Real capacity control

Joins run inside a database transaction with row locking — no overbooking, ever.

› If the app says there's a spot, the spot exists. Players trust what they see.

Per-match group chat

Every match ships with its own chat, updated with incremental polling.

› Strangers coordinate like a team before they've ever met — no phone numbers shared.

Smart filters

Search by neighborhood, date, format (6v6 to 11v11) and skill level.

› You find the right match in seconds — near you, at your level, at your hour.

06 / 09

Technology Stack

FRONTEND

Single-page application in vanilla JavaScript — framework-free, mobile-first, responsive. Zero build step and a minimal payload: it loads fast even on mid-range phones and unstable mobile networks, which is exactly where our users live.

BACKEND

PHP with a REST-style API (auth, matches, chat) over MySQL / InnoDB with prepared statements (PDO). Passwords secured with PHP's native hashing, including automatic rehash on algorithm upgrades.

INTEGRITY

The critical operation — joining a match — runs as an ACID transaction with row-level locking, so two players can never claim the last spot at once.

WHY THIS STACK

Deployable on affordable shared hosting with no DevOps overhead — near-zero operating cost while we validate the market, and a clear migration path as usage grows.

07 / 09

Competitive Advantage

We sell matches, not bookings

Unlike pitch-booking platforms, we solve the human problem behind the booking: assembling the people. A booking is worthless with an incomplete team — that gap is ours.

Two-sided by design

WhatsApp groups only work inside a closed circle of contacts. FaltaUno opens the whole city: it matches strangers safely, with real capacity and a built-in place to coordinate.

Local depth over global breadth

Built around Barranquilla's synthetic-pitch culture — its neighborhoods, formats and price habits. Generic sports apps treat football as one sport among fifty; for us it's the only one.

08 / 09

Future Improvements

NEXT

- › Player reputation and attendance history
- › In-app payments to split the pitch fee
- › Push notifications for last-minute spots

THEN

- › Direct integration with pitch owners' calendars
- › Rankings, stats and neighborhood tournaments
- › Native mobile app

SCALE

- › Expansion to other Colombian cities
- › New formats: women's leagues, corporate matches
- › The social layer of amateur football

09 / 09

Closing Statement

WHY WE BELIEVE

FaltaUno is not just a tool — it's the answer to a loneliness every football player has felt. We started by fixing one match; we ended up building the place where the city finds its next teammate, and where a stranger becomes the friend you only make by sharing a pitch.

Because in football, when one is missing, everyone is missing.
And there's always one missing.

🕒 60 - 90 s

The Pitch, Spoken

The full script, ready to deliver. Beats are marked for pacing — read naturally and it lands between 75 and 85 seconds.

HOOK · 0:00

Raise your hand if this has happened to you: you had the pitch booked, you had the drive... and you had no one to play with. That exact afternoon is why FaltaUno exists.

PROBLEM · 0:15

Football is the most popular sport in the world, and the easiest one not to play — because it never depends on just you. In Barranquilla, thousands of players want a game and have no team, while teams with a paid synthetic pitch collapse because one or two people cancelled. They're a kilometer apart. They never meet.

SOLUTION · 0:35

FaltaUno connects them — in both directions. If your team is missing two, you publish the gap and the city fills it in minutes. And if you have no team at all, you create a match from scratch: pick the pitch, set the format, and strangers join, coordinate in the match chat, and show up. Our capacity control means that if you see a spot, that spot is real.

PROOF · 0:60

It's live technology: a fast web app that runs on any phone, with a transactional backend that never overbooks a match. Built for Barranquilla's pitch culture — and built to scale beyond it.

CLOSE · 0:75

We're not selling bookings. We're making sure that in this city, nobody stays home wanting to play. Because in football, when one is missing, everyone is missing — and there's always one missing. We're FaltaUno.

5

BEATS

~80s

RUNTIME

1

IDEA: NEVER MISS A MATCH